for, and to bring professionalism to a line of work which is often derogated as "baby-sitting."

"The best places are run by women who regard themselves as professionals," Ms. Eckert has found. "They are former teachers, social workers, nurses who want to stay in touch with kids, want somebody to play with their own kids — and who need the money."

"Often they are very good — like a first-rate nursery school. In other places, of course, it's just a lot of kids in front of a TV all day."

"We tell parents to visit a place more than once before they take their kids there. Yes, you want to be sure it's clean, but if it's too neat, it may mean she's paying more attention to housekeeping than to the kids. Are there toys? Are there as many as ten kids in a small area?"

"We hope day-care providers will form their own association, and begin to think of themselves as professionals. We want new people to take it on as a career."

Trial Period. "Have a two-week trial period, and watch your child's behavior — if the child continues to cry when you leave, for example, I know with my own child, I have to carry her away at the end of the day, she loves it so!"

Ms. Eckert also recommends firm agreements — perhaps written agreements — about holidays, pay, what happens if the provider is sick. Fees range from $50 a week to $100. In Princeton, it may be $80 to $90 for a full day, five days a week.

To get more providers into the market, Ms. Eckert and the Council talked about the profession with the women — and men — who went to the Riverside meeting.

"We sat around on those little chairs, and talked about how to start a home-based profession. We explained that it's hard to get insurance — one woman obtained ed insurance through a 'buying club' in Minnesota! — and we talked about setting (and collecting) fees, keeping records of each child, marketing, the daily schedule, basic equipment, health and safety."

Ms. Eckert also pointed out that women who enter this home-centered profession don't have to commute or invest in expensive clothes. They are their own boss. They can incorporate their own child into a bigger family, and follow their own philosophies of child care.

And they can fill a need.

At Work Care. Although her organization wants to encourage private-home providers, she thinks the way to handle the growing demand for day care may be through business organizations themselves.

"Employees are asking for it, we've found, and it could be the best way to go: it's on-site, the mother could visit the child during the day, people who run the center would be employees of the corporation and get a better financial deal than if they go it alone. Usually, you know, it's a low-pay, 'burn-out' job."

Ellen Levine, head of the Council's Child Care Committee, talked with a personnel official in one corporation who said he had no idea of the extent of need in his own firm.

"The need always comes before the solutions," Ms. Eckert says quietly. "Meanwhile, people deal as best they can."

Robert Stuart, a student at Princeton Theological Seminary and a graduate of Villanova and William & Mary Law School, will be an assistant baseball coach, serving under new head coach Ed Beacham. A recent graduate of Trenton State College, Shawn Campbell will be an assistant boy's lacrosse coach.

EASTERN TITLE FALLS To Stephan Fletcher. Princeton High School senior Stephan Fletcher took another step this week toward his lifetime goal of competing in the 1984 Olympics.

Calling it the goal of his indoor season, Fletcher won the 60-yard hurdle event in the 48th Annual Eastern States Invitational Track and Field Event held Monday at Princeton University's Jadwin Gym.

His time of 7.32 in the final heat was .08 of a second faster than Charles James of Truman High in Pennsylvania. Fletcher had won the trials with a clocking of 7.44 but had finished second by .01 of a second behind Victor Peppers of Christian Brothers Academy in the semis. In the finals, Pepper came in third with a time of 7.47.

MEETING PLANNED Of Softball League. The Recreation Department will hold an organizational meeting of the Men's Softball League on Monday, March 21, at 7 in the Recreation Office. The office is located in the Township Hall Annex next to the Community Park Pool. Any team planning on entering the League this summer must have a representative at this meeting.

Love It or Hate It, Palmer Square's Kiosk Will Be Open for Business at End of Week

The copper-roofed kiosk in front of One Palmer Square will have a "soft" opening at the end of the week, Collins announced Monday.

"Soft" means no trumpets, drums or bisected ribbons. That will come when remodeling of the plaza has been finished, the Out to Lunch sculpture relocated, the kiosk, Yankee Doodle riding his pony atop the copper roof and the new fountain splashing.

Claudette Adams, Collins' director of marketing, also announced that a scale model of the whole Palmer Square development is now on display in the lobby of the Nassau Inn. Do Chung, chief architect of the project, said the cardboard model, at a 1/20th scale, took 2,000 staff hours to complete because it is so detailed.

Collins, whose plans and projects are the butt of constant rumor, criticism and occasionally even public venom, has announced a special telephone number for the public.

If you have ideas or suggestions "on all aspects of Palmer Square development," Mrs. Adams says, just call during regular business hours.

People have been calling anyway, she added, some with ideas about stores they'd like to see in the Square, like a bakery, a bookstore or a particular restaurant.

"We've pursued these ideas," she said.

The number: 921-2856.

The kiosk, which will be operated by Paul Bevensen, owner of Princeton News Service, will carry newspapers and magazines from the United States and foreign lands, paperbacks, cigarettes, candy, film.

It will be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. seven days a week. No, Mrs. Adams said, the rent is not $1,100 a month, which had been rumored. She declined to say, however, on which side of that figure the rent might be.

Meanwhile, plans for new stores move ahead. Although Mrs. Adams would not speak for publication, it is known that the Laura Ashley chain of fabric and clothing shops has already taken out Borough building permits to remodel the vacant Nassau Street space where Clayton's once had an outlet.

It is understood also that the spaces formerly occupied by the Nassau Delicatessen, Tucker Anthony and the rear of One Palmer Square will have announced tenants before long.

Planning Board Will Review Institute's Plans For 400 to 600 Housing Units on Quaker Road

A "discussion document" — just something to talk about — showing 400 to 600 housing units on the Quaker Road property of the Institute for Advanced Study will be spread out on the table this Thursday for the Planning Board to review.

The process is called a "concept review." The meeting, in the Valley Road building, will start at 7:30 p.m. but it is expected to be at least 8:30 before the Institute has its turn.

The holdings comprise 160 acres of woods and 377 acres of farmland and meadow. The Institute wants to develop the property because it costs money to support the kind of research for which the Institute is world-renowned. At the same time, the Institute affirms "its obligation to the Princeton community" to develop with care.

Highlights:

- The 400 or 600 units would be built in the meadow portion of the property, in clusters.
- The Institute Woods would be kept, in perpetuity.
- 70 acres of open space would buffer the housing from both the road and the Friends Meeting House, and reserve the area marked by the state for possible expansion of Princeton Battlefield Park.
- A linear park of 30 acres on the south, parallel to Stony Brook, would provide protected access for animals to the brook and woods.

School Board Stands Firm On Vote to Close Littlebrook

After two hours of discussion Tuesday night, there was no indication that the school board would reverse its 5-4 decision of last week to close Littlebrook school this September, and at press time the board had turned to other matters.

The day after last week's vote, the Littlebrook PTO unanimously decided not to give its active support to the school budget unless the board brought up the question of Littlebrook for another discussion. It is not yet known whether Tuesday night's exchange of views among board members and public, met this criterion.

"We would never actively work against the budget," explained Littlebrook PTO president Margie Haber earlier this week. "But we felt very, very strongly that the situation couldn't be left as it was. We would not have felt any more comfortable if the decision had been to close Riverside."

Littlebrook was brought back to the agenda Tuesday at the request of board member Harry Levine, who had voted in favor of closing. Mr. Levine felt that "board members should explain why they had voted as they did. As they explained, many of them also said how they felt about waiting a year before closing Littlebrook, or how they felt about considering it all over again.

Michael Tomalin, running for reelection, is the one who changed his vote last week so that a 5-4 to leave Littlebrook open, became a 5-4 to close it. He told the audience he has been deluged with calls and letters and other board members said they had, also.

He lives one block from Littlebrook, he told the audience, and he said there is an unspoken feeling that he had "let down my constituents."

"My constituency is the whole Township," Mr. Tomalin said emphatically. "In the wider sense, it is the whole Princeton community."

"If special-interest groups ever come to feel they must have a representative on the board, we'll be setting a very bad precedent."

He denied he had been coerced by other board members, or pressured during a brief board recess last week.

"I thought it was the right thing to do. I've listened to people and read the letters they've written me, and in the end I did what I thought was right. That's all anyone can ask of a board member."

Allen Grossman protested that there was a "significant misunderstanding" that he was "playing games" with his votes last week. Mr. Grossman, who voted against closing, said a fatal flaw in the process was that board members talked to the audience but not to each other. "I'm satisfied the board acted in the best way they know," he stated.

Tigers Heading for Oregon, After 53-41 Win at Palestra

Surviving a newly-created preliminary round with a 53-41 victory over North Carolina A&T Tuesday night, the Princeton basketball team is heading for Corvallis, Ore. as one of 48 teams in the NCAA tournament.

The Tigers will meet Big Eight champion Oklahoma State in the first round this Friday on the Oregon State campus. The game will start at 9:10 EST. The Princeton University radio station WPRB-FM will carry the contest live.

Should the Orange and Black manage to knock off Oklahoma State, which made it into the tourney by defeating 12th-ranked Missouri in a conference playoff, it would then face Boston College in the second round Sunday afternoon. A victory there would send it to the West Regional finals at Ogden Utah, beginning Thursday, March 24.

Returning to the post-season tournament for the first time in two years, Princeton fared better than it did against Brigham Young in Providence. But then, this was only a preliminary bout, designed to weed out some of the weaker teams.

Playing as the home team in the Palestra in Philadelphia, the Tigers had been cast in the unfamiliar role of favorite over the MEAC champion. They did not disappoint their followers.

Littlebrook

"The process was reasonable, fair and honest," Mr. Levine said. "I'm satisfied with the role of the School Closing Committee, the board, the community and myself."

Michael Mahoney, who had voted against closing, said there was no need to reconsider. "There was no cabal — no cabal could have been that inept! — and no planned outcome."

"To reconsider would be to raise expectations of a large majority vote. Closing was the best way to meet educational needs and now is the best time to do it."

"Littlebrook and Riverside are very similar," Penelope Baskerville remarked. "I can't say I feel strongly about either one, but I had to make a choice."

"I'm disappointed in letters that say we did not show objectivity," said Dale Madden, who had opposed closing. "I wish we had more time — moving the fifth grade in one year, closing in two. But while I don't agree with some board members' votes, I have no less respect for them."

Rosemary McGee said she was sorry she'd lost, but — and she shrugged — "the vote was taken." Mrs. McGee is also running for re-election.

Absent Hannah Fox stated, in a letter, that postponement would mean polarization of the town, uncertainty on the part of teachers and a situation no less painful a year from now.

From the audience, Robert Durkee expressed concern about building understanding and community support. The decision was "artificial," he protested, adding that a decision to close Riverside, made at the late hour last week with minutes, the Tigers seemed a "fragile majority," would always be equally so.

He pointed out that, although the board listened for an hour to the Planning Board's consultant talk about population projections, it never again referred to them in its deliberations.

Ann McGoldrick, board president, told the audience she had been worried about the "sunshine" law during the board's intermission last week, which Mr. Tomalin had requested. She feared accusations of secret board maneuvering, she said.

"I was told I railroaded it through, pushed, and wouldn't allow Mike (Tomalin) more time, but there was no board consensus to take more time. There could have been charges of collusion and inside deals and it would have been worse for Princeton than the decision we reached."

Answering an audience question, Superintendent Paul Houston said the current pupil teacher ratio of 21 to 1, would be 20.6 to 1, with a closed school. He and Middle School principal William Johnson assured a parent that the school will not treat fifth-graders like sixth-graders, is well along in plans to adapt the school to them and will have a final report after spring vacation.

Mr. Levine reported $145,000 additional money in the budget as a result of the closing.

A Riverside parent said she was "ashamed" that Riverside parents hadn't been welcoming to Littlebrook families, and the Riverside PTO president, Anna Rosa Kohn, expressed admiration for Littlebrook parents who "channeled their energy for the good of the school."

From the audience, Riverside parent Robert Powell said the whole elementary

Princeton Basketball

From the start it was a contest between the run-and-gun attack of the Aggies against the coach Pete Carril's patient offense and tough zone defense. Although they didn't lock up the victory until the final few minutes, the Tigers seemed a "fragile majority," would always be equally so.

The trailed only once, 2-0 in the opening minute, but tied the score on a basket by Gordon Enderle and then led 4-2 when Rich Simkus hit from in close. North Carolina tied it at 4-4, but Craig Robinson hit on a long jumper, and Princeton held the lead the rest of the way.

The Tigers opened up a seven-point lead, 14-7, with six straight points near the midpoint of the first half. The Aggies managed to cut it down to two, 21-19, using their height advantage to grab several offensive rebounds, but a shot by Robinson at the buzzer, made it 23-19 at the intermission.

Princeton increased its advantage slowly but surely in the second half, to six, eight and then 10, 35-25 with 12:57 to play, when John Smyth completed a three-point play. North Carolina continued to play a fast-paced offense, rarely setting up for shots, but could not hit with anything approaching consistency. In the end it managed to sink only 27 percent of its shots from the floor.

Time for a Clinic. As the clock passed the halfway point of the second half, the Tigers began to run a clinic on smart basketball for the over eager Aggies. The back door play worked two or three times before the losers caught on, the fast break garnered a few more points.

Finally with time beginning to run out, the visitors had no choice but to commit fouls, and Enderle, Simkus, and Robinson sank eight straight to open up a 48-35 lead with a little over two minutes remaining. Princeton coasted the rest of the way, while North Carolina, which had been averaging more than 70 points a game, managed to break 40 near the end.

As usual, the Orange and Black was outbreathed, 42-31, but in shooting 55 percent from the floor, it overcame this disparity. Enderle finished with a game-high 18 points, 14 in the second half, Robinson had 15, Simkus 9, Smyth 7 and Billy Ryan, 4.

That high field goal average is going to have to continue to make up for the shortage of rebounds if the Tigers are to come close to victory in Oregon.

As Carril said jovially in a post-game interview, "When I tell my guys to hit the boards, they think I mean college boards."

SIGMUND IS OFFICIAL. She'll Run. Barbara Sigmund formally announced on Tuesday — commenting on the fact that it was the Ides of March — that she will run for the Democratic nomination for Borough mayor. Her opponent in the Democratic primary, and so far her only opponent, will be Borough Council President Barbara Hill. No Republican has yet come forward.

Mrs. Sigmund's announcement was not unexpected. Last week, friends formed a committee to draft her, although she had expressed an interest in the mayor's job some time ago, and had been talking with other Democrats.

The committee obtained 257 signatures on a draft (see page 24) and this "overwhelming support," Mrs. Sigmund said this week, convinced her that she ought to declare formally.

Mrs. Sigmund, who has just completed her second term as a Mercer County Freeholder, said she felt that contacts she had already established with various levels of government would be "very important" if the Borough is to maintain a social and economic mix of residents.

It was announced this week that Mrs. Sigmund has been given the Hubert Humphrey Award by the Washington, D.C., division of the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Sigmund, who had successful surgery on a cancerous eye last year, has been speaking under the Society's auspices on a variety of social issues.

PCH PLANS VAN

From Elderly Apartments. A van which would travel a regular route three mornings a week and be on call the rest of the time, is part of the transportation plan scheduled to be presented to the Borough Zoning Board this Tuesday by Princeton Community Housing, Inc. The meeting, a special one for PCH, will be held in Borough Hall at 8 p.m.

AWARD IN MAYOR HALL'S MEMORY: Harleston P. Hall Jr. congratulates Marie Nurko, R.N. of the Emergency Department at Princeton Medical Center for winning the 1983 Josie Hall Memorial Award for winning the 1983 Josie Hall Memorial Award for excellence in Nursing. Established by Mr. Hall, Jay Chandler, M.D., and Harvey Rothberg, M.D., the award is presented on an annual basis to the nurse who clearly demonstrates the characteristics of thoughtfulness, sensitivity and competence in providing a humanistic approach to the patient's needs. Ms. Nurko is a graduate of the Helene Fuld School of Nursing and has been a member of the Princeton Medical Center nursing staff since 1969.

Last Wednesday, PCH presented to the Environmental Design Review Committee its plans for apartments on Elm Road to house elderly people in the moderate-income brackets.

Opponents of the project have said they will go to Township Committee with an appeal from last month's approval by the Township Zoning Board of a detention basin. The basin is in the Township, although the project itself is in the Borough.

Public hearings will be held by Borough Council next Thursday, March 24, on lease arrangements between PCH and the Borough, which owns the land.

In a reverse twist from the usual, the EDRC and Borough engineer George Olexa told PCH at last Wednesday's presentation that PCH is suggesting more screening than is necessary.

Plans show evergreens between present trees on Elm, and the proposed PCH parking lot. At the EDRC's suggestion, the plans were pruned back.

The EDRC also felt the detention basin might be too large. The Borough doesn't require one so large. Opponent William Barr asked what would happen to runoff that now goes into leaves, after a building has been constructed. He was told that a ditch already takes this runoff so that it never goes onto the site.

cedures to stop what she calls an "uncontrolled outflow" of money.

In fact, the committee was so successful that applications have actually diminished, and the 'Y' is now eager to have more women know about the fund. Last year, the fund gave out $7,000; this year, the committee hopes to give $11,000.

As a little girl, Pearl Nelson went every day to the segregated YWCA in the big building on the corner of Witherspoon and Maclean. Her mother and father both worked, so she would go to the 'Y' after school and stay until her parents came home.

As she grew older, she continued in the 'Y'. She chaperoned overnight camping trips, helped little kids get to camp. As a young married businesswoman, Pearl Nelson Bates belonged to a group of young businesswomen, formed at the 'Y'.

It was in the mid-1940s that the national YWCA voted to abandon segregation. Pearl Bates remained with the 'Y' in Princeton after integration, although not every black woman chose to do so.

As an adult, she served on the board of directors of the 'Y' and on many committees. Mrs. Howard Waxwood, herself a vital force in both segregated and integrated YWCAs, remembers that Pearl Bates worked with many women still in Princeton, still active in the YWCA. Janet Penfield, Helen Geary, Evelyn Ellerbe, Jean Licklider, Mary Tucker, Helen Young, and Mrs. Waxwood herself.

"We want to reach the women who would benefit," Mrs. Myers says. "in memory of Pearl Bates: her whole focus had been on the 'Y'."

TEENAGER CHARGED
With Robbery. Nineteen-year old Allen L. Smith of Aiken Avenue has been charged with strong arm robbery at a dance at the YMCA earlier this month.

Smith is charged with forcibly taking $6 from a 16-year old Princeton youth in a men's room. Following a police investigation which involved talking with witnesses and the victim, Smith was arrested Saturday afternoon on Houghton Road across from Princeton High School by Det. William Fitch.

Arraigned before Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. Smith was later taken to Mercer County Detention Center to await the setting of bail. The investigation by Borough police is still continuing.

and receiving clerk at Epstein's in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Following his arraignment before Judge Sydney Souter, Adrien was later released in $1,000 bail, awaiting action by a Mercer County Grand Jury.

Eleven of the suits valued at $2,065.78 - one valued at $147.98 is still missing - were recovered by police in a green plastic bag near an entrance door to Epstein's. Police had received a call February 20 from a man stating that his son had returned some suits stolen from the store. The name of the caller turned out to be fictitious.

Possession of Hashish. Ronald Brown, 28, a resident of Cardiff, has been charged by Borough police with possession of a small quantity of hashish and under 25 grams of marijuana. He was later released on his own recognizance, pending his appearance in court.

Brown's car had been stopped on Stockton Street last week by Ptl. Randy Sutton for emitting excessive smoke. During the investigation, he was found to be in possession of the drugs.

Sighted Sticker, Stole Same. James C. Jones, 26, of Hammondtown, has been issued a summons by Township police, charging him with the theft and possession of a state motor vehicle inspection sticker.

Employees at the Princeton Citgo Service Station in the Princeton Shopping Center, told police that he had been hanging around the station and asking a number of questions about inspection stickers, including where they were kept. The next day his car was seen at the rear of the Shopping Center bearing a numbered inspection sticker that had allegedly been stolen from the service station.

According to police, Jones was in the process of buying a car and wanted an inspection sticker for the car he was purchasing.

EXHIBITION PLANNED

Nothing can substitute the ability and control found in human hands. Massage is more than simply rubbing. Massage is a medical art founded scientifically on precise principles. It is a true and actual form of therapy, it is the cornerstone of modern physical treatment.

Massage constitutes a most effective means of combating pain due to arthritis, and cannot be substituted. Mechanical massage devices and commercial vibrators are not effective and in fact many times can have damaging results.

Properly executed massage has two beneficial effects. The first is a mechanical effect that is found in rubbing, which increases circulation of the lymphatic system, that is the liquid that surrounds and moistens our tissues, eliminating any inflammation of nerves and tendons and accompanying muscle pressure, increasing flexibility and ease of movement.

The second effect of massage is that of reflex, consisting above all in relaxing the muscles. Massage has a sedating action and helps to calm pain and tension.

STANWORTH AREA SITE OF Break-ins. "There's no question that someone is working the area," commented Chief Michael Carnevale this week, after he reported that Borough police have investigated three more break-ins in the Stanworth housing area of Bayard Lane. An apartment on Stanworth Drive was entered Saturday night through a ground floor window and the intruder left with a color television set and a stereo receiver and turntable. However, the items were recovered the next morning when a resident found them stashed near a children's playground in the area.

During a 10-minute period Friday morning while the occupant was walking a pet, someone forced open the window of a Stanworth Lane apartment. Taken, police said, were a $350 color television set and $80.

Earlier in the week, there was an attempted entry into another apartment on Stanworth Drive. The occupant called police in the evening after hearing noises coming from a bedroom window.

The police investigation revealed a storm window and an inside window pried loose and sneakers prints in mud beneath the window. No entry was gained, however.

When a Witherspoon Lane resident left his house unoccupied for a 12-minute period last week, a thief entered an unlocked door and departed with a stereo and speakers valued at $400. Sgt. Peter Hanley investigated.

A university student told police Thursday that someone had entered his unlocked room in 1915 Hall between 6 and 7 p.m. and removed a radio cassette valued at $200.

Home Is Ransacked. A Dadds Lane home was entered and ransacked last week by an intruder, who gained entry by forcing a cellar window.

Taken were some silver and a television set. Police are waiting for an estimate of their value. The entry took place about 7 last Wednesday evening.

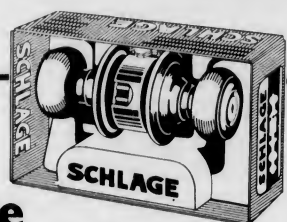

Township police on Monday discovered an attempt had been made to enter a home on Valley Road while the owners were away. Police report that a second-floor rear window pane had been broken out by someone who had climbed a trellis, but no entry was gained. The attempt was discovered during a routine police check of vacant homes.

THEFT REPORT
Wallets Stolen. Wallets and pocketbooks — familiar items in the police docket — were reported stolen last week.

A Princeton resident lost $73 Monday when her wallet was stolen from her car which she had left unattended while shopping at the A&P in the Princeton Shopping Center, and a 16-year old Princeton High School student lost $16 when her wallet was taken last week from her locked locker. It was later found in a school rest room minus the money.

While a resident from Brielle was in the stands in Jadwin Gym last week watching the NJSIAA state wrestling matches, someone stole her pocketbook. Inside was $35.

A member of the Princeton High faculty listed the theft of a $95 jacket, taken during a 10-minute period Friday from an unoccupied room.

Someone entered the locked car of a Princeton resident while it was parked overnight in a lot at 120 Prospect Avenue. The victim lost a tape deck and tapes with a combined $496 value.

Two rear tires and rims valued at $300 and some gasoline were stolen from a state-owned van while it was parked overnight last week at Johnson Park School. Police report the vans are used to transport children to special classes.

A Princeton University student last week locked the steering mechanism of his moped and left it in an entry at Little Hall. When he returned some four hours later, his $475 moped was gone.

Sweat Suit Shoplifted. A $102 velours sweat suit was shoplifted Friday afternoon from a Nassau Street store.

Police are looking for two black female suspects in their early 20s. One is about 5-8, 115 pounds and trim; the second about 5-10, 140-160 pounds with short hair.

The clerk told police that the two had been looking at sporting equipment when one asked to use a rest room. After William Nathan discovered they left, the clerk checked the rest room when she heard water running and found an empty hanger in the toilet's water tank. A check of the store uncovered the missing sweat suit.

METERS VANDALIZED
On Prospect Avenue. The recently-installed parking meters on Prospect Avenue, the target of repeated vandalism since their installation, were visited again by vandals last week.

Thursdays morning, while issuing a summons, P.I. Nathan discovered two meters severely damaged. One, police said, had been split in half, obviously from the force of a blunt instrument. Later in the morning, Ptl Joseph Wilhelm found four more meters severely damaged. The repair cost has been estimated at $400 to $500.

At least the meters are providing a physical outlet for the students," commented Chief Michael Carnevale.

School Window Broken. Township police listed an act of criminal mischief at Community Park School.

As a janitor was locking the front door of the school at 7:20 Thursday evening, following a meeting in the building, someone tossed a jar through a plate glass window. Police have received no replacement cost for the 4-foot by 2-foot window.

DRIVER CHARGED

With Careless Driving. George K. Reitsma, 33, of Pitman was charged with careless driving last week, after he ran into the rear of a car stopped in traffic, waiting to turn left from Route 206 onto Elm Road.

Mr. Reitsma told Ptl. Virgil Angelini that he had been looking for something in his wallet and did not see a car, operated by Norman Laflin of Trenton, stopped in front of him. He suffered contusions and abrasions in the mishap and was treated at Princeton Medical Center.

The accident took place at 2:31 Sunday afternoon. Both cars had to be towed from the scene.

CEILING DARKENED

By Cooking Oil Smoke. The ceiling of the kitchen of Judith Corrente, 506 Quaker Road, was darkened by smoke early last week, when a pot of cooking oil that had been left on the stove caught fire.

Before the fire extinguished itself, it filled the house with smoke, police said. They report that Mrs. Corrente had been frying potatoes on the stove shortly before 6 last Tuesday and had left the pan of oil on the stove.

ning on Saturday and Monday.

On Friday, pre-school registration will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 1 p.m. Saturday registration, which is for all classes including pre-school, will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 12:30 p.m. A full day of registration will be available Monday, with registration starting at 9 a.m. and continuing until 7 p.m.

The 229 spring programs starting in April cover a wide range of interests, activities, age groups and skill levels. In the Adult department, 42 different programs are being offered which incorporate such diverse topics as computers, herb gardening, birdlife, language walks, excursions to New York City, and securities and investments planning. These programs are in addition to the 13 ongoing special offerings of personal growth and development called "Women's Services Institute."

These programs include the "Dying and Grieving Hotline," "Mother's Almanac," "Widowed Friends" and "On Your Own," as well as programs geared to communications skills and personal effectiveness. The Adult Department also incorporates such clubs as the Artisan's Guild, the Senior's Friday Club, the Princeton Newcomer's Club and Bridge Clubs.

The Youth Department will greet spring with 58 separate program offerings for pre-schoolers and parents, through grade school ages and high school. A special highlight of the Youth Department is the Saturday Spotlight program for handicapped teens. Such courses as "Ukrainian Egg Decorating," "Where Does the Sun Go At Night?" "Studio Art Workshop" and "Acting Improvisation" are available.

Summer Day Camps. Summer Day Camps will also be organized and run through the Princeton YWCA this summer, and registration is now underway for these programs. They include the YWCA Coed Day Camp (K-Grade 5), held at the Stuart School and accredited by the American Camping Association; the Princeton Coed Sports Camp (swimming, gymnastics and team sports for ages 6-13); the Girls Activities Camp (ages 11-13); and "Summer Camps" for ages four and five. Pre-camp and after camp care will be available for working parents. Under Health, Physical Education and Recreation, 99 programs for the spring are now planned. Exercise offerings include early morning programs, senior citizens exercise, weight training and pre- and post-natal programs. Dance classes range from Jazz and folk styles, to classical ballet, Aikido and Karate are offered in the areas of self-defense.

Parents are often involved in the HPER programs with their children. They include parent-child gym activities, and parent-child aquatics. Gymnastics programs are available for pre-school and grade school children. Swimming programs are designed for all ages, beginning with infants and moving to senior citizens. They include swim instruction (following American Red Cross progressions) and combined gym and swim programs. American Red Cross classes are also held at the YWCA.

Health services have been developed to meet special needs of the participants at the YWCA. They include the national post-mastectomy Encore program (created and developed by a Princeton YWCA volunteer, Helen Glines Kohut), Exercise for Arthritis, blood pressure screening and Adapted Aquatics for handicapped swimmers.

OPEN HOUSE SET At Boychoir School. The American Boychoir School will hold a spring open house on Wednesday evening, March 23, at 7:30 p.m.

The only non-sectarian day and boarding choir school in North America, the school provides a full academic program as well as trains boys in grades 3-8 to perform and tour professionally as a concert choir. Prospective students and parents are invited to visit the school and learn about the education available.

Visitors to the school, located at Lambert Drive off Rosedale Road, will be greeted by Steven N. Howard, headmaster; Phyllis Furley, academic director; John Delautre, admissions director; John Kuzma, music director; and other staff and faculty members. Students to both the apprentice and concert choirs will be in attendance.

Questions about the curriculum, philosophy, and student life will be answered and there will be an opportunity to visit classrooms and meet with teachers. A short recital will be given at 7:30 and light refreshments will be served.

The American Boychoir was founded in Columbus, Ohio in 1937 and moved to Princeton in 1950. The school has an enrollment of 54 boys, many of whom receive some financial aid.

POISON? NO! Prevention Week. All parents of children in the pediatric and maternity departments at the Medical Center at Princeton will be given a supply of syrup of ipecac and the warning: "Children Act Fast, So Do Poisons." Ipecac is used to induce vomiting, but the hospital

Mitch Forest talks about diamonds and the "Four C's."

"Buying a diamond is a pretty serious decision, and in order to make an intelligent choice you really need to understand what jewelers call the "Four C's": carat, color, clarity and cut.

"Carat is the unit of weight by which diamonds are measured. There are 100 points in a carat. So the popular quarter carat stone is a 25 point diamond.

"Color appears when, like a prism, the diamond breaks light into every color of the rainbow.

"Clarity is what we call signs of growth such as bubbles, spots or lines often included in stones when diamond crystals were formed millions of years ago. The fewer "inclusions," the more valuable the diamond.

"Cut enhances the beauty of the diamond when the facets are placed so that they reflect light back to the eye, creating a brilliant "twinkling" effect.

"Of course, there's a lot more to diamonds than space allows me to cover here. But if you're interested in diamonds, come in and see me. I'll be glad to answer your diamond questions and show you a selection of diamonds starting at $300."

SQUAD CALLS INCREASE

MICU Used Heavily. Princeton First Aid Squad responded to 117 calls during February, up 35 from the corresponding figure of a year ago. Some 104 of these calls were emergency dispatches, 12 were routine transports, and one was a standby at Jadwin Gymnasium for Princeton University's Alumni Day.

Thirty-seven of the calls were in the Borough, 49 were in the Township, and 31 were mutual aid calls, usually requests for the Lifemobile Intensive Care Unit. Of the 104 Emergency calls, 43 (41 percent) were handled as Mobile Intensive Care Unit (MICU) calls. Although four of the MICU calls were unsuccessful attempts to resuscitate individuals in cardiac arrest, the condition of at least 15 persons was markedly improved or stabilized by the prevention or correction of dangerous heart irregularities.

Twenty-six of the patients were treated for chest pain and/or respiratory distress, 15 for injuries (three for acute injuries requiring intravenous fluids en route to the hospital). One patient was treated for a leaking aortic aneurysm, two for massive overdoses of medications. A seven-months-pregnant woman was treated for severe uterine bleeding, and nine patients were treated for seizures or strokes.

During February, members of the squad spent 446 hours on calls and drove the squad's vehicles a total of 1175 miles. Thirty-four percent of the calls were handled by the paid crew, usually augmented by volunteer members. Among other activities, the squad taught Red Cross First Aid classes for the Princeton Adult School and an American Heart Association Basic Life Support course to staff at Princeton Medical Center.

Several squad members are enrolled in the N.J. Emergency Medical Technician's course, three in the Advanced Cardiac Life Support course, and one in paramedic training.

The American Cancer Society's Hubert H. Humphrey Inspirational Award will be presented to Barbara Boggs Sigmund, former Mercer County Freeholder and candidate for Mayor of Princeton Borough, at a luncheon Friday in Washington D.C.

Mrs. Sigmund, who is the daughter of U.S. Representative Lindsay Boggs and the late House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, will be honored for her courageous conquest of cancer. She lost an eye to the disease but this did not hamper either her public service in government or as a volunteer with the Mercer County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

Donna Pressma of Dogwood Lane, executive director of the Jewish Family and Children's Agency of Philadelphia, was scheduled to be the principal speaker at two events in Philadelphia this month.

Prior to becoming a senatorial candidate last year, Mrs. Sigmund served on the Princeton Borough Council. While a member of the Mercer County Board of Chosen Freeholders, she served as president in 1979 and 1980. She was elected president of the New Jersey Association of Jewish Communities in 1981 and has been a delegate to Democratic National Conventions.

She is a 1976 graduate of Princeton Day Vics for the State of Connecticut and a 1980 graduate of Wellesley College.

Mrs. Pressma is a noted lecturer and workshop participant at national conferences on subjects ranging from the changing role of Jewish women to violence in the family. The agency she heads has a staff of nearly 200 and provides a wide variety of social services to families, children and individuals.

Kimberly T. Mount, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaius B. Mount of 282 Carter Road, has been named to the Dean's List at Babson College for the 1982 fall semester. To receive dean's list honors, students must achieve a semester average of 9.3 or above on a 12-point scale.

AFTER TWO MILLION MILES, THIS VOLVO FINALLY MADE IT TO OUR SHOWROOM.

The all-new Volvo 760 GLE is here—right on schedule—after ten years in design-and-development and 2,000,000 miles of testing. And if you think it took a long detour to get here, you have to understand where it's been. And why.

—Hallard Test Track, Sweden. For the 760 GLE, Volvo engineers invented a unique new rear suspension system they call Constant Track. It reduces body shock and vibration to a minimum while it keeps the rear wheels in constant alignment for more predictable handling. Hallard's Belgian block course and hairpin handling course proved it out.

—Mojave Desert, Australian outback, Swiss Alps, Lapland. The Volvo 760 GLE features an automatic climate control system that proved to be of great comfort when driven through some of the hottest and coldest places on earth. No wonder. Even when the car stands still, the climate control system is changing the air five times a minute.

—Key West. If a paint job can hold up in Florida's semi-tropical, salt-water atmosphere, it can survive just about anywhere. Tests proved the Volvo 760 GLE's paint job is a survivor.

—Lombard Street, San Francisco. What do you do on one of the world's steepest streets? Test the parking brakes, of course.

HOUSING PLANS OF INSTITUTE: The Institute for Advanced Study owns about 160 acres of woods and 377 acres of meadows and farmland in the Quaker Road-Mercer Road area, and it will talk with the Planning Board this Thursday about the housing it would like to cluster on part of that property. Under Township zoning regulations, the Institute is allowed to build 400 units; if it decides to accept the "Conditional Density Bonus" offered by the Township, it could build 600 units. This map shows the 14 clusters of housing units the Institute plans to build in phases: the entry from Quaker Road (and, shown by arrow at left, a possible future connection with Quaker, if 600 units are built); the course of Stony Brook at the bottom and Mercer Road-Princeton Pike at the top. Emergency access roads, to be used only in case of severe flood are shown above right. State officials believe the Planning Board should require a connection with Alexander Road, to the west (right), off this map.

Institute

• A system of open-space corridors, aligned with drainage swales and run-off ponds, would segment the clusters (see map) and provide a way for people to walk to the brook.

• Township zoning allows the Institute 404 units. Depending on how the municipality's new Conditional High Density bonus works — and it is still being developed — the Institute might have as many as 600.

• Under Conditional High Density, developers will be allowed to build more houses than the zoning ordinance allows, provided they include a certain number — not yet determined — of moderately-priced, "affordable" units. Such housing is, in effect, subsidized by the developer, who presumably makes more money by being allowed to build more houses.

To reach this "concept review" stage, Institute and Planning Board, at the board's request, went through the "Environmental Review Team" process developed by the state's Soil Conservation District.

Experts in floodwaters, traffic, sewers, biology and soils all participated and submitted reports. Elizabeth Hutter and Sydney Taggart represented the Planning Board. Only the soils report is still to come.

The board asked for the process because the Institute's land is designated a "primary" Conditional Density Bonus site on Princeton's Master Plan and board members were concerned about flooding, the Institute Woods and the preservation of farmland.

Traffic and flooding are key elements in the development of this site, the team decided.

In his report, Charles R. Carmalt of the state's Department of Transportation, states that "total reliance" on Quaker Road for a development of this size, is "clearly unacceptable."

He believes the Planning Board should require a connection to Alexander Road, west of the Institute property. If this road were built, he says, there would be no need to expand the capacity of Quaker Road up to the point where it intersects with Province Line at Port Mercer.

He does state, however, that Quakerbridge Road — between Province Line and Route One — will have to be widened to four lanes by the year 2000, even without the Institute's development.

A connection with Alexander, he believes, would "reinforce the development's connection with Princeton," handle 35 percent of all trips from the development and over 25 percent of all trips to the center of Princeton. It would also help to distribute traffic headed for both Nassau Street and Route One.

A traffic study by Frost Associates of Chatham, says the location of the development will "minimize" the overall impact on Township roads, because office developments on Route One and state offices in Trenton will draw traffic to Route One and Route 206.

But after about 300 units have been built, the report continues, traffic coming from the development will have problems because of the "limitations" of the Mercer-Quaker intersection. The DOT report says flatly that a traffic light at that intersection will be "essential" as soon as people begin living in the development.

Institute plans show a road into and out of the project onto Quaker Road. Only if the full 600 units are built, would there be a second road.

However, the Institute suggests gravel emergency roads for use in time of flood: the existing road north through the woods, bending west to emerge on Quaker Road, and an existing road through the northwest end of the woods.

Flooding is a big question. Quaker Road is closed two or three days each year because of high water. By using the existing road and raising Quaker Road one foot at a key point, the Institute believes, the ten-year floodwaters could be bypassed. But for a 50 and 100-year flood the additional road would be needed.

In its proposals, the Institute suggests construction in four phases.

Phase One would have 84 units: 40 townhouses and 44 so-called "zero lot line" units; that is, clustered dwellings.

In Phase Two, there would be 66 townhouses and 65 clustered.

Not until Phase Three would the first single-family homes be built. There would be 54 of these and 95 townhouses.

The first apartments — 103 of them — would be built in Phase Four, along with 75 clustered units and 58 townhouses for an overall total of 600.

For the past six months, key members of the YES board of directors have worked with Jocelyn Helm of the Senior Resource Center to implement details of an intergenerational plan and are now ready to launch a pilot program for which they have high hopes.

The students, aged 14-17, who are taking part have attended several training sessions to learn how to meet the needs of older people and to approach their jobs with sensitivity. They will operate with the counsel and supervision of YES officers who have studied and initiated the program.

The jobs they are prepared to do include light housework, shopping, running errands, some yardwork, reading, writing and companionship. The basic cost is $3.50 an hour, but this may be adjusted if there is financial need. People on foodstamps, Medicaid, SSI, PAAD, Home Energy or Life-line will be eligible for reduced cost.

Some of the specially-trained students are already placed, but there are several still available. If you can use the help offered or if you would like more information, call Hanneke Calmon, 921-0235; Betty Gilbert, 924-8558; Martha Hartmann, 921-6287; or Jocelyn Helm at the Senior Resource Center, 924-7108.

COMPUTERIZED VOTING?
Township Wary, County Executive Bill Mathesius would like to test out a new system of tallying election results that uses data punch cards in place of the traditional voter machine with electrical switches.

Mr. Mathesius has selected Princeton Borough and Princeton Township as a place and the June primary elections as the time for trying out the system. He came before Township Committee Monday night to describe the merits and potential economies of the system.

But Township Mayor Winthrop Pike has "reservations" and says he won't make any commitments until he receives an answer to a letter he wrote to the New Jersey Secretary of State asking if the Township is obligated to use the system and whether the machine, called "Peps Punch," has been approved. Under state law, any change in a voting machine has to be approved by the secretary of state.

"My only concern is that there be the least possible disturbance in the election process," said Mayor Pike, "and that we not have an election which is liable to legal challenge." Mr. Mathesius contends that the county could save $200,000 a year if it switched to small card punchers which could be tallied in a computer. He says the system is easy to use, fraud proof and economical.

In a proposed system voters feed data cards into a machine the size of a legal pad that punches holes opposite the names of the candidates they wish to vote for. The cards are then dropped into metal boxes and taken to Mercer County Community College for tallying by computer.

It might take as long as three hours for the results to be known, Mayor Pike has learned, and this is one of his concerns. Primarily, though, he has reservations about the mechanics of the machine, and whether seniors, for instance, will find aligning the name and the hole difficult. Still another concern is the security of the ballots, since they must be transported from the district polling places to another location for tallying.

In the Borough, Penelope Carter, Borough Clerk and Mayor Cawley have also seen a model of the proposed machines at a press conference called by the County Executive. Ms. Carter says she and the mayor are "generally in favor" of the proposed system, but she is concerned about certain "technicalities," such as educating election workers in time for the primary election.

BUSINESS In Princeton

DIVIDEND INCREASED
At New Jersey National. The Board of Directors of New Jersey National Corporation, commercial banking organization has raised the quarterly dividend on its common stock to $ .40, payable April 15 to stockholders of record March 31, 1983.

The dividend increase follows a three-for-two stock split this year, and 5 percent stock dividends in 1981 and 1982. The new dividend of $ .40 per share represents an increase over the previous $ .383, adjusted for the three-for-two split paid February 18, 1983. That split raised to 2.9 million the number of New Jersey National common shares outstanding.

The board also proposed an increase in the number of authorized shares of the corporation's common and preferred stock, subject to shareholder approval at the Annual Meeting on April 13, 1983. The proposal would increase to 10 million from 3 million the number of authorized shares of preferred stock.

In addition, the increase would provide additional shares for issuance under New Jersey National's dividend reinvestment and stock purchase plan, and various employee benefit plans.

New Jersey National Corporation operates New Jersey National Bank, which has assets over $1.2 billion and more than 50 banking offices in the nine central and southern New Jersey counties.

STOCK SPLIT REPORTED
By ADR. The board of directors of Applied Data Research, Inc. has announced a 2 for 1 stock split of the Company's Class B Common (usually Company's Class B Common 1981). In addition, 600 of the stock payable in form of a 100 state's major corporations, percent stock dividend for all their chief executive officers shareholders of record on or before March 21, payable on April 4.

Headquartered in Princeton, ADR maintains offices and representatives in major U.S. cities, Canada, Europe, Asia, South America, the Far East and Latin America. The company develops and markets system software products, application software products and professional services.

PUBLIC OFFERING
By United Jersey Banks. United Jersey Banks has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with a public offering of 600,000 shares of its adjustable-rate cumulative preferred stock.

United Jersey Banks is a Princeton-based holding company with $3.2 billion in assets and 118 banking offices statewide. The $30 million offering will be underwritten by a group managed by Shearson-American Express Inc.

The initial dividend rate will be set at the time of sale. Dividends will be payable at the end of each quarter. Future dividends will be adjusted quarterly to reflect changes in the rate on U.S. Treasury securities.

The proceeds of the offering will be used for potential acquisitions of banks or related businesses, capital contributions to subsidiaries, debt reduction and general corporate purposes.

The offering will be made only by means of a prospectus meeting the requirements of the Securities Act of 1933.

MORE IN PLAINSBORO
By Linpro. Condominiums will be constructed this year by Linpro, the first time the Plainsboro developer has moved into that market, the firm announced this week.

In addition, Linpro's 1983 plans include a "luxury residential rental community," new office buildings and more townhouses and separate houses.

Groundbreaking will be this spring for the 200 one-or-two-bedroom condominium flats. Linpro expects the first occupancy by early fall. Prices will be "from the high $40,000s."

Raven's Crest, with 444 one-or-two-bedroom "luxury" apartments, will be the sixth apartment community at Princeton Meadows, joining Fox Run, Deer Creek, Hunters Glen, Pheasant Hollow and Quail Ridge — 3,432 rental apartments that Linpro reports is completely rented. In Raven's Crest, Linpro plans in-apartment washers and dryers, basic cable hook-ups and, in some units, fireplaces.

More "Gentry Colonial manor" homes, and "Britanny" townhouses are planned. There will be 105 additional "Britanny" units.

Linpro will also begin construction of 4,000 square feet of office space in four one-story units. The structures will be in The Office Center. It is expected that the buildings will be ready by September.

LISTING AVAILABLE
OF N.J. Grantmakers. "The 1983 Mitchell Guide to New Jersey foundations, Corporations and Their Managers" has been published by Janet A. Mitchell, publisher.

This is the third issue of the biennial Guide which is an alphabetical listing of the 400 New Jersey foundations which

The Mitchell Guide also publishes guides to Long Island and upstate New York foundations and bimonthly newsletters on grants and fund-raising for New Jersey and New York grantseekers. A publication listing all foundations in New York City is due for release in late spring.

You say you can't find a home in Princeton Borough for less than $100,000?

Well maybe you haven't been looking hard enough. We know of one nice two-bedroom home on Chestnut Street that listed at $92,500. That one is just about sold, but we have heard of two others on North Harrison Street listed at $90,000 each—and the seller is willing to make some adjustments in the price so that you can pick out the appliances of your choice.

If you're willing to go up into the six-figure range (of course you are because you knew you would never find anything under a hundred anyhow), then we can tell you about a charming, two-bedroom Queen Anne Victorian with all new electric service, fully restored hardwood floors, newly installed gas heat, woodstove, and outdoor deck. Price: $129,900. On Vandeventer Street—nice part of town. Actually this one is under contract to be sold, but we have more, of course.

VICTORIAN ON VANDEVENTER: This gracious house doesn't look like a condo but that's what it is. Bill Bitteringer created three condominiums in it (one on each floor) and two more in another house across the street on Wiggins. Tax revenues for the Borough will probably double as a result of the conversion.

The joke in Princeton real estate circles used to be that you couldn't find anything in the teens anymore. By that they meant under $120,000, naturally.

Well we just had another Queen Anne Victorian, fully restored, with hardwood floors, central air, new heat and electric, etc., etc., and it was $119,900. It only had one bedroom and one bath but it was in the teens. That's sold now so maybe they're partly right: you can't find much in the teens anymore.

A Home, Not a House. Okay, so what's the catch? None, really. Just remember that these are homes, not houses. You will own the air space within your four walls and you will pretty much have the right to do whatever you want to the interior. You will share in the ownership of the structural walls, foundation, roof, and land beneath you. All of some designated part of that land may be set aside for your personal use.

In other words, you will own a condominium. Congratulations, and welcome to Princeton, homeowner.

A decade ago you could have summed up everything a Princetonian needed to know about condominiums in two words: Miami Beach. Now they even have them in the western section (Constitution Hill and Guernsey Hall) and they are sprouting up like dandelions in the shadows of the tree streets.

Who's buying? "We're seeing young professionals coming into Princeton who want to live close to town and who want to know they can really decorate a place, make improvements, without a landlord telling them his son-in-law wants to move in there in the fall," says Anita Blanc of Princeton Crossroads Realty, a firm that has made a specialty of condominium listings.

Paint It Black. Who's creating the condominiums in town? Anyone who owns a multi-family dwelling can, as they say, go condo without even appearing at the Zoning Board. "It's merely a change in the form of ownership," says John Dumont, a Nassau Street lawyer who has drawn up the papers for several condominiums. "There's no limit. If you have a building that's zoned for nine units you can convert to nine condominiums."

"At the time the condominiums are created, an association of homeowners is formed," continues Mr. Dumont. "It collects money from the homeowners for maintenance, snowplowing, gardening, whatever they deem appropriate. If one owner wants the building painted red, and another one wants blue, then you have trouble. But one way out is through the appointment of an arbitrator, which is written into the by-laws of some associations."

Condominiums, incidentally, are not limited to residential units. Robert Hillier, the architect, is creating an office condominium building out on Alexander Road.

At the corner of Spring and Tulane streets in the central business district, Margaret Tuchman has transformed an old rooming house and created two offices on the first floor and side by side two-bedroom condominiums on the top two floors. The condos are for sale ($129,000 apiece); the office space is for rent, but Mrs. Tuchman could sell them as office condos if she chooses.

Dollars and Sense. By now you might be pondering the possibilities: Take an old three-unit Victorian on Wiggins Street, selling in the 50s or thereabouts (150s, of course); pump $25-30,000 into each unit; and sell each one off for $125,000. You have just made a quick $100,000 or so.

Or have you? Richard Demmler, a senior at Princeton majoring in architecture, went into partnership with his father and bought a Chestnut Street duplex last July for $120,000. The student has devoted his spare time since then to home improvement: residing the house, installing new kitchens, sanding and refinishing the floors, painting all the rest. He has sold one side for a shade less than his asking price of $92,500. He is living in (and still finishing) the other side and will put that up for sale after he graduates in June.

"The only way to really make money in housing is to build from scratch," says Mr. Demmler.

Gerald Silvester, a native Princetonian who works fulltime at the University's power plant, has dabbled in investment properties over the years. In November, 1980, he bought one of those three-story Victorians on Wiggins Street, between Vandeventer and Madison, with the idea of making three two-bedroom condominiums out of it.

"I figured I'd have it ready by May or June of 1981," says Mr. Silvester. "The construction work (new wiring, heating, air conditioning, kitchens, bathrooms) held me up until September. Then a controversy over the parking lot held me up from September to

News Of The THEATRES

'LION IN WINTER'
Next, for Players. The struggle within the Plantagenet family over succession to the throne seems an unlikely subject for comedy but James Goldman's "The Lion in Winter" is, in the words of the New York Times' critic, "a work of intelligence, astute wit and much theatrical skill."

"The Lion in Winter," next offering from Princeton Community Players, will open Friday, March 25 in the PCP theatre, 171 Broadmead. It will play again that Saturday, and April 1-2, 8-9 and 15-16, all at 8:30 p.m., and Sunday, March 27 and April 10 at 7:30. Reservations may be made between 4 and 9 p.m. by calling 883-4357.

Director Julia Poulos and producer David Flagg have Churchill Clark in the role of King Henry II and Celia Munro-Jones as Queen Eleanor of Aquitaine. Their frequently played television's Emmy Award for her work in Gary Braithman, Sher Collier has been cast as the king's mistress and C. Peter Kauz as the young Prince Philip of France.

Alison Miller is stage manager. Lighting is by John Jones, props by Curt Hall and graphics by Maria DeVink.

ENTER HENRY, ENRAGED: "The Lion in Winter," Princeton Community Players' next production, has Churchill Clark in the role of King Henry II — shown here in a fit of pique — and Celia Munro-Jones as Queen Eleanor of Aquitaine. That's Brad Manier as Henry and Eleanor's son, Richard-Lion-Heart, baring his neck to daddy's wrath.

'DELICATE BALANCE'
Here's the Cast. At the head of the cast list for McCarter's production of "A Delicate Balance," the Edward Albee Pulitzer Prize winner, are Nancy Marchand and Paul Sparer, a wife-husband acting team. They will play the parts of Agnes and Tobias.

The play will open March 30 and will play McCarter through April 17. It is the final offering of the season. Others in the cast are Karl Light, Elaine Bromka, Barbara Carson and Myra Carter. Mr. Light appeared in McCarter's "The Day They Shot work in another Albee play, "All Over." She played the comic maid in "Present Laughter," the Noel Coward play with George C. Scott.

'DIVA'
Played for Humor. A thriller with a complex — sometimes confusing — plot, "Divina" is still running in New York more than six months after its premiere. Princeton moviegoers may see it next Tuesday and Wednesday at 7:15 and 9:30 in Kresge auditorium, Washington Road. It's one of the "Movies-from-McCarter."

Frederic Andrei plays an 18-year-old Paris mailman who loves opera and is fascinated by an American diva (Wilhelmina Fernandez) who refuses to record her voice. The mailman tapes a performance secretly, but another tape is accidentally dropped in his mail — a prostitute's confessions implicating a high-ranking police officer — and the web begins to weave.

Director Jean-Jacques Beineix is said to "exploit all the cinematic elements available to a director...all the visual gags and images are played for humor."

READY FOR OPEN AIR?
Schedule Announced. Summer is coming, in spite of contrary evidence you may perceive, and Jack Rees, manager of the Open Air Theatre in Washington Crossing — Jersey side — has announced the theatre's 1983 schedule.

"Twelfth Night," the Shakespeare comedy, will launch the season June 16-18 with a production by Shakespeare '70.

"The Sound of Music" will follow the week-ends of June 23-25 and June 30-July 2. Pennington Players will produce.

"Show Boat," the Jerome Kern classic, will be given by Artists Showcase July 7-9 and 14-16.

"Fiddler on the Roof," in a Princeton Community Players production, has been booked for July 21-23, 28-30.

"Kiss Me Kate," Cole Porter's adaptation of "The Taming of the Shrew," will be mounted by Back Stage Breaks August 4-6 and 11-13.

"My Fair Lady," by Mercer Musical Theatre, will conclude the season with performances August 18-20 and 25-27.

Audition dates will be announced as the season moves on. Mr. Rees has promised new facilities and seating for the 800-seat amphitheatre.

PRESERVATION HALL It's Spring! Princeton's surest sign of spring — the annual appearance of the Preservation Hall Jazz Band from New Orleans — will burst forth Saturday, March 26 (8 p.m.) in Dillon Gymnasium on the Princeton University campus. Tickets, unreserved by section, are on sale at the box office of McCarter Theatre.

The average age of the musicians is in the seventies. All the faces are familiar from past journeys to Princeton and include the brother team of Willie and Percy Humphrey on clarinet and cornet; Narvin Henry Kimball on banjo; Joseph "Cie" Frazier on drums; James Edward "Sing" Miller on piano; Frank Demond on trombone and, on tuba, Preservation Hall's founder, Allan Jaffe. Jaffe started Preservation Hall in 1961 so there would be a place for old-time jazzmen to play, and old-time jazz fans to listen.

PIANIST TO PLAY

In Concert at McCarter. Pianist Jorge Bolet will make his first appearance in Princeton on Monday at 8 in the Princeton University Concert series, at McCarter Theatre. Jorge Bolet began piano studies in his native Cuba at the age of five and became a student at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia at 12. He graduated with top honors and was the first and only recipient of the Josef Hofmann Award.

Mr. Bolet's artistry and his reputation as "one of the few living superpianists" (Washington Post) make him a much sought-after performer. Each season he fills a crowded schedule of engagements all over the world, both as soloist and with orchestra.

For his program in Princeton, Mr. Bolet will perform Schumann's "Phantasie," Op. 17; Beethoven's "Sonata, Op. 109; Schubert's "Wanderer Fantasy," Op. 15; Prokofiev's Sonata no. 3; and Debussy's "La Puerto del Vino," "Poissons d'or" and "L'ile joyeuse." Ms. Zarzeczna has been a winner of the Leschetizky Debut Prize in New York, the Kranichsteiner Musikpreis for Modern Music in Darmstadt, Germany, the Premio Viotti in Verelli, Italy, a two-year Fulbright grant for music study in Italy, and the $1,000 Anna B. Stokes Award in Trenton.

ORGAN CONCERT SET Of Easter Music, Thomas P. Gander, '81, former principal University organist at Princeton University, will present an Easter organ concert on Sunday, March 20, at 1:30 in the Princeton University Chapel. The concert program will include pieces written for various events of Passion week. "Les Rameaux," by Jean Langlais, describes Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. Three of J.S. Bach's Eighteen Chorales are reflective of the Last Supper: "O Lamm Gottes," "Schmücke dich, o liebe Seele," and "Jesus Christus, unser Heiland." The program will close with all four movements of Marcel Dupre's "Symphonie - Passion," which will carry the audience through the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ.

There will be no admission charge, and all are invited. CHANGE IN SOLOIST. For NJSO Concert. There will be a change of guest artists for the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra's concert at Trenton's War Memorial on Friday at 8:30.

This concert is being held to make up the event originally scheduled on February 12 which was postponed due to the snowstorm. The Cuban pianist, Jorge Bolet, was scheduled to be the guest soloist for that concert, and it was expected that Mr. Bolet would be available on the March make-up date. However, due to scheduling difficulties, Mr. Bolet will not be performing. The concert instead will feature the young pianist Hirokazu Yoshikawa, first prize winner of the NJSO's 1982 Young Artists Auditions and a resident of Bridgewater.

The program will be conducted by the Orchestra's associate conductor George Manahan, and will consist of Liadov's "Kikimora," Dvorak's Symphony No. 8, and the Saint-Saens Piano Concerto No. 2, which will be performed by Mr. Yoshikawa. Ticket holders are advised to use their February tickets for admission on the rescheduled date. For further information contact the Conservatory division at information call the Box Westminister Choir College at 921-7104, or 924-6359.

CELLO, PIANO SET

Four of the works she will perform are by Princeton University graduate students. They are "Prelude" by Beth Weimann; "Toccata" by David Kowalski; "Organic Expansions" by Jody Rockmaker and "Junctures" by David Hakowski. ## Claudio Arrau Treats his McCarter Audience To a Superbly Sensitive and Expressive Recital

McCarter Theatre bubbled with excitement last Wednesday evening (March 9) in anticipation of a recital performed by the legendary pianist, Claudio Arrau. For this sixth event in the Music-at-McCarter's 1982-83 season, the 80-year-old Arrau played works by Beethoven, Chopin, Liszt and Debussy.

Arrau has performed and recorded all thirty-two of Beethoven's solo piano sonatas and the five piano concertos. He chose to play Sonatas No. 21, Op. 53 (the "Waldstein") and No. 23, Op. 57 (the "Appassionata") in this concert. His playing in both works was sublime, and his interpretations powerfully expressive.

The passion he eludes in performance is probably Arrau's greatest asset as a pianist of advanced age. His technical fluency and accuracy have not diminished appreciably (although he did take some liberties in tempo in the "Waldstein"). But his capacity for developing and expanding on the expressive elements of the music has matured beyond compare.

In these two sonatas, Arrau's phrasings were well-balanced and exquisitely shaped. He had enough energy to project the thundering fortissimos of the first movement of the "Appassionata," and the control of technique and expression to bring the delicate, slow-moving lines of the "Waldstein's" second movement to a mere whisper.

Aural Pictures. In Debussy's "Reflets dans l'eau" ("Images," first series) and Liszt's "Les Jeux d'eau" a Villa d'Este," Arrau extended his profound expressiveness to create two aural pictures of sparkling water and works was sublime, and his interpretations powerfully expressive.

Liszt's Ballade No. 2 is considered by Arrau to be one of the composer's masterpieces for the piano. The pianist's understanding of the inner conflicts set forth in the piece brought feelings of intense depth and unabashed tenderness to its contrasting sections. Throughout the work (and indeed throughout the entire concert), Arrau's facial expressions reflected extremes of pain and joy, adding to the immediacy of the music's message.

Arrau's performance of Chopin's Scherzo No. 1, Op. 20, made it plainly apparent that the aging process has not diminished the pianist's mechanical technique. The work was played at an astounding tempo with undying energy and sensitivity — a fitting close for a superb recital.

Though listed on the program, "Meine Freuden," from Chopin's "Six Polish Songs" (arranged for piano by Liszt) was not performed, nor was there a need to do so. The rich variety of the program was more than satisfying without it.

During his extraordinary long and illustrious career, Arrau has been partial to the music of Liszt and Beethoven. The reason for this was clearly seen and heard in this concert. This music speaks directly to the soul of this masterful artist, and through him we experience it in ways words fail to adequately describe.

In Folk Concert. The

Princeton Folk Music Society will feature Rick and Lorraine Lee in concert on Friday at 8 at the YMCA on Paul Robeson Place.

Rick and Lorraine Lee excel as interpreters of traditional American music and through the years have expanded their musical interests to include modern country music and contemporary folk songs. Both are skilled as songwriters. Lorraine is a dulcimer player who has created techniques and playing styles that expand the range and the reputation of the instrument.

She teaches extensively in the Boston area and is the author of books and articles about the fretted Appalachian dulcimer. Rick has developed a versatile and sensitive folk piano style and both play the five string banjo. Together they draw their audiences into the music, and soon everyone present is part of the singing and the song.

IT'S NEW To Us

A SHOP FOR GOURMETS
Bon Appetit in Shopping Center. Bon Appetit, the gourmet's delight in the Princeton shopping center, is well prepared for the celebration of Easter. There is something particularly special about how the European chocolate companies prepare their festive Easter fare. The shop is now a feast of tempting sweets.

Bon Appetit always has a fine selection of the best chocolates made from many different countries. The shop's owner, Mr. Carl Andersen, a gourmet shop and make a sweets and pastries, has a good deal of experience in collecting the best products from many countries. He spent several years in New York in the export business before opening Bon Appetit with his wife 15 years ago. The business has continued to grow ever since.

"We really take special pride in the quality of chocolates, and fine foods sold here — especially our large selection of wonderful picnic baskets are," says Mr. Andersen. He and his wife have a special flare for knowing exactly what storage, picnics, or flowers his Princeton customers like, and plants. The Andersen's kitchen has expanded in recent years to daily servings of hot soup, salads, and hearty red trim to the very large sandwiches on croissants. Prices begin as low as $2. New Orleans Muffelata is a specialty. The daily soup makes a more traditional might be a broccoli, a leek and Easter basket and can be used potato, chowders, old Dominion — creatively after the holiday. ion lentil, Swiss cheese. What could be more fun than and onion, or Hungarian to stop by at Bon Appetit and David Glenn is the master chocolatier and Easter candies chef in the soup department. Of course, Bon Appetit is not necessarily have to be famous for its top quality little? Many an adult would meats, hams, caviars, and like to believe in the Easter breads. Smoked Bremen, bunny! The choices are Stuttgart, Black Forest, and abundant, ranging from two farmer's ham are only a few tiny chicks in a basket of of the choices. Fresh beluga chocolate for $1.25 to a huge

GOURMET DELIGHTS: Bon Appetit in the Princeton Shopping Center is well prepared for the celebration of Easter. (From left) Marie Rumer, Linde Dewey, Winifred Livesay and Toni Greene will see to it that the shop's handsome selection of Easter baskets are filled with fine cheeses, preserves, mustards, caviar, and a wonderful assortment of beautifully-wrapped European chocolates.

The feast of Easter would not be complete for some without the panorama sugar egg. Bon Appetit has a good selection, large and small, of these pretty creations with scenes of spring inside. A lovely Easter thought might be one of the German chocolate eggs in a porcelain egg cup for only $3.25 or the Italian ones for $3.95. Ducks on a nest with small colored type eggs of marzipan are great favorites. Bon Appetit's bags of chocolate eggs are $2.49 for 8 ounces.

The chocolates of Lindt, Tobler, Cote d'Oro, and Perugina are elegantly boxed. Among the most handsome are the boxes with reproductions of old etchings from different European towns. Bonbons are in great demand at the shop, especially the ones from Holland. The festive Columba del Pasticcere, an Italian fruit cake with a chocolate frosting in the shape of a dove for Easter appeal to many.

International Clientele. "We do a lot of scouting around to find special and unusual sweets because we have a very large international clientele here," explains Mr. Andersen. Surely the preserve department is representative. The finest preserves from England by Tiptree, Dundee, Nelsons of Aintree, and Frank Cooper are available there in such flavors as quince, cherry, green fig and gooseberry.

Swiss Hero, French Soleillou, and an outstanding company called the American Spoon feature delicious and unusual flavors. Bon Appetit has at least two full shelves of fine mustards from the basic French dijons and old-fashioned whole grain types to the more exotic with perhaps green herbs and shallots.

A few special preserves, a pot of honey or mustard, and a few wedges of choice cheese and imported crackers will make the perfect Easter basket fill for the discriminating palate. The cheese department is famous in Princeton. Montrachet, Bucheron, goat cheese with herbs, the bell-shaped clochette are among the French selections too many to name. Italian mascherone, several gorgonzolas, and provolone yield another flavor.

PARTNERS FOR 26 YEARS: A new line of fabulous window treatments has arrived at Home Decor where owners Mr. Richard Katen and Mr. Harold Shamy spend many pleasant hours advising their clients on "how to be their own decorators". The shop, located in the Princeton Shopping Center, has a fine selection of lamp shades, linens, curtains, bedspreads, decorative pillows, and bathroom accessories — much of which is on sale until Saturday.

The "wearers of the green" will be happy to know that Bon Appetit has prepared a Leprechaun delight, a green cream cheese mixture with old Bushmill Irish whiskey. The Irishmen will appreciate the shop's assortment of teas as well. Hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 9:30 to 5:30 and until 6 on Fridays.

STOREWIDE SALE
At Home Decor. The long-awaited spring is almost upon us, heralding new beginnings, spring cleaning, a splash of paint, touches for the home which will add new life and color. Things always seem to have faded during the long winter months. Home Decor, anticipating the urge for a bit of "spruce-up" is in the final days of a fantastic storewide sale.

"We encourage our customers to be their own decorators. We let them borrow all of our samples to see if they work in whatever room. You just can't do that unless you have the sample," explains Mrs. Harold Shamy.

There is a certain personal tradition of fine service which pervades this shop, located in the Princeton Shopping Center. Mr. Shamy and his partner, Mr. Richard Katen, spend many pleasant hours with their customers whether they are ordering new window treatments for the whole house or just a few new sheets to live up a bedroom. They seem to care and provide just what their clients are looking for.

Partners for 26 years. "They said that a partnership like this would never work. That was 26 years ago and we still have a great time working together," says Mr. Shamy. Inventory at Home Decor includes everything from handsome bathroom accessories (including gold-plated toothbrushes) to a complete line of custom window shades and vertical blinds in a variety of fabrics.

The sale, which will continue through Saturday, includes many of the decorative window shades such as the cotton ones by Kirsch, the Versols and the wooden shades which lend such an attractive contemporary look to the home.

Presently curtains and sheers in the Waverly fabrics are reduced by 20 percent while the Pernell drapes are 40 percent off. Decorative Industries' curtains and bedspreads are reduced by 50 percent and the Burlington House fabrics are 30 percent less.

There is a definite emphasis on a pretty, comfortable bedroom at Home Decor. Alluring lace and gingham, pretty pastels in matching dust ruffles, quilted spreads, shams, and curtains are available in many stunning fabrics. Comfy 100 percent goose down pillows are now on sale for $75 and the 50 percent feather and down combinations are $60. A wide selection of non-allergenic linens and pillows is found here as well.

Linens Reduced. First quality Martex sheets are greatly reduced, as are decorative pillows which add such flare to a tired couch or bed. Cuddling eyelet pillows in all sizes and shapes make wonderful gifts for a young bride, a new mother, or an older mother. Every lady would like a lacey pillow to brighten up her room. Mr. Shamy is well versed in the value of lace. His father, George Shamy, was a dealer in fine laces and linens for many years. The family still maintains a great interest in the business. Their inventory includes many collector's pieces, such as a bridal veil two yards long valued at $100,000!

Lace coverlets and bedspreads would make a generous gift for a bride-to-be this coming season. Bates, George Washington and Queen Elizabeth Heirloom lace and linens, even down to the tissue and basket covers, are in keeping with the bridal theme. More practical gifts might include one of the many placemats and napkins on sale this week at 20 percent off regular price.

Now is a good time to stock up on the top quality towels found at Home Decor. Discontinued luxur towels are now only $10.50. Handsome bathroom equipment in wicker and lucite will lend elegance to this space.

A wonderful gift for a friend who is ill would be one of the many back rests at Home Decor. These and the amusing pillows with prints of Reeses' Pieces, Hersheys, and Mr. Goodbars are sure to please a teenager for graduation. Hours are from 10 to 5:30 daily and Fridays until 8:30.

ART In Princeton

ART CLASSES BEGIN
For Spring, in-person and telephone registration will continue through March 25 for the April 4-May 27 spring session of the Princeton Art Association. Mail registration will be accepted at any time. The new PAA address is P.O. Box 3019, Princeton, N.J. 08540-0919.

Classes range from "Picture This," an after-school mixed-media program for children six to ten, to a graphics workshop open only to experienced printers by pre-arrangement.

In between are adult classes—including high school age—in painting, drawing, portraiture, watercolor, the illustration of children's books, basic painting, working from a nude model and sculpture. Class workshops are given in pottery-making, monotype print-making, etching and printing without a press.

The youngest class is "Young Art," for children age four to six. It is designed to increase awareness of color, texture and shapes. For older children, there are classes in beginning drawing and classes for those with some experience in drawing. "Introduction to Color" for students age 12 to 15 and a class called "Environmental Design," in which 9-12-year-olds plan future space colonies, undersea communities and underground houses. Information in more detail is available from the PAA, 921-9173.

WELDED BRASS
Sculpture on View. Large open-form brass sculptures by Barbara L. Harrison from her continuing series, "Traps and Boxes," will be on view in the Henry Chauncey Conference Center, Educational Testing Service, starting this Sunday. It will remain through April 29.

Hours are 9 to 9, and the Center will be open to the public on week-ends except for April 2. ETS is on Rosedale Road. The exhibit consists of large, open-form brass sculptures that protrude "aggressively" from the wall to extend into the viewer's space. The artist has said that each sculpture is designed to generate a feeling of conflict through the placement of interior forms which push against the outer edges—and lids—of the box, or trap.

Ms. Harrison's works are represented in ETS' corporate collection, and the corporate collections of the Bank of Tokyo in New York City and Maher Terminals, Inc., of Port Newark. She has exhibited at McCarter and Gallery 100, among other galleries in the state.

BY WOMEN ARTISTS
And Flowers. Ten women artists will exhibit their flower paintings, photographs and wall hangings at the Cranbury Corner Gallery, 63 N. Main Street, Cranbury, through April 15. A reception will be held this Sunday from 2 to 4 at the Gallery. The public is invited to attend. Gallery hours are 10 to 5, Tuesdays through Saturdays.

SIGN UP
With Tri-County. A wine and cheese reception will be held this Saturday from 1 to 4 in Old Cranbury School, Main Street, Cranbury, to launch the spring sessions of the Tri-County Art Association. Tri-County, based in East Windsor, serves Mercer, Middlesex and Monmouth counties. Brochures, newsletters and registration forms will be available. Visitors may also talk with instructors and see examples of their work. Besides classes and workshops, Tri-County offers exhibition opportunities, gallery contact and possible commissions. Inquiries may be made by calling 448-8967 or 448-1830.

SCULPTURE, DRAWING
Artists Invited. Small sculptures and drawings will be featured at the 30th annual Hunterdon Art Center exhibit, to be held May 8 through June 19. The Center is in Clinton. Awards will total $800.

All artists 18 years and older, are invited to enter. Small sculptures in all media—not heavier than 75 pounds or larger than 30 inches in any dimension—are eligible. The juror will be Princeton artist Jane Teller.

Drawings, on paper, may be in graphite, colored pencil, sepia, pen and ink, silverpoint, charcoal or conte. They must not exceed 60 inches. The juror will be Mel Leipzig. There is a $10 entry fee and a limit of two entries per artist. Receiving dates are Monday-Friday, April 4-8, from 1 to 4, and Saturday, April 9, noon to 4. Artists are asked to call the Center at 201-735-8415, to obtain a prospectus.

AT NASSAU CLUB
Works by Meehan. Representational paintings and drawings by Madeleine I.E. Meehan will open in the gallery of the Nassau Club on Friday, April 1.

The show will be open to the public from 10 to 5 through June 30. The Nassau Club is at 6 Mercer Street.

Rural Princeton, with hills, fields and farm houses, is represented in the show through the medium of pastel paintings and pen and ink drawings. Works by the artist are currently on view in galleries on Eastern Long Island, where she maintains her studio.

PRINT EXHIBITION
At Hunterdon Center. The 27th National Print Exhibition will open this Sunday at the Hunterdon Art Center, Clinton, with a reception from 2 to 5. The exhibition will run through Sunday, May 1. Jurors Stefan Martin, Robert Anderson and Ruth Leaf have chosen over 100 works from 500 entries.

Board's Decision Backed.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter I have sent to Ann McGoldrick, President of Princeton Regional School Board.

The purpose of this letter is to register support for the School Board's recent decisions to close an elementary school at the end of this academic year and specifically, to close Littlebrook. More importantly, I wish to express confidence in the manner and the process by which those decisions were reached.

The selection of an independent committee, none of whom was directly affected with children in the elementary schools, ensured objectivity of analysis, even if the Board was unable to endorse that committee's report in toto. The Board's subsequent open discussions and public hearings ensured that all interested parties could be heard and that the Board's position could be made clear.

While it was unfortunate that the final forty-five minutes of a three-month long analysis and process should have been embroiled in parliamentary manoeuvres, even those were carried out for all to see, once the goals of the participants had been made clear.

Those quite legitimate manoeuvres—though in sharp contrast to the previous mode of discussion and process—were legitimately met and successfully parried. The decision arrived at, therefore, was arrived at legitimately.

I can certainly sympathize with the Littlebrook parents. I can sympathize with their concern at having the school in their district closed especially when there seemed to be a last minute second chance for its survival. I do not believe, however, that their annoyance should be sufficient grounds for you to reopen or reverse an honest vote, honestly arrived at.

It goes without saying that the precedent which any such reversal would present would undermine not only this decision and this Board but also any other decisions arrived at by this and subsequent Boards.

I believe you made the correct decision. I believe those decisions were arrived at openly and legitimately, without coercion, and in the best interests of the Princeton community at large. I urge you, therefore, to move ahead quickly to put your decisions into practice and avoid further divisiveness within the community.

Did you know that if North Carolina is able to win the national championship in men's major-college basketball this season, they'll become the first school in 10 YEARS to win it 2 seasons in a row... The last team to win back-to-back national championships in men's major-college basketball was UCLA in 1972 and 1973.

Here's an oddity... The man who invented basketball, Dr. James Naismith, never got one penny for his invention - even though basketball takes in millions of dollars every year!

Amazingly, Rickey Henderson, who stole 130 bases in big league baseball in 1982, had more stolen bases than the totals of 9 TEAMS in the majors... The entire Minnesota team, for example, stole only 38 bases in 1982, while Henderson stole 130 himself.

SPORTS In Princeton

1 WIN, 1 LOSS, 1 TIE

For Tiger Baseball Team. The Princeton baseball team isn't exactly marching through the south like Sherman, but it has managed to hold its own so far.

With three games behind them played last weekend, the Tigers are all even, one victory, one loss and one tie. For a report of Monday night's game against Georgia Southern, see below.

The southern swing continues this Wednesday with an afternoon game against Brevard County, on Thursday with a doubleheader against Central Florida, and Friday and Saturday against Florida Institute of Technology.

Not surprisingly, there is good news and bad news to report, as the Orange and Black continues this shake-down cruise. Errors in the field are hurting Princeton as usual. It dropped a 12-7 decision to North Carolina-Wesleyan on Saturday, but just five of those runs were earned. Four Tiger miscues negated some fairly decent pitching by three Tiger pitchers.

Steve Kordish went three innings and gave up three runs, two of which were earned. Catcher turned pitcher Gerry Rods worked the next two, giving up two more unearned runs. That staked the home team to a 5-0 lead, but Princeton rallied with three in the sixth, two on a two-run home run by Paul Steinhauser, and three more in the seventh to tie it.

In came reliever Tom Kates who was roughed up for six runs in the home half of the seventh, only four of which were earned. The victors added one more in the eighth, finishing with 16 hits on the day.

The good news has been the hitting of Lawrenceville resident Dan Arendas, who collected two of Princeton's 11 hits, and scored twice. He is one of three freshmen to be made a starter by coach Tom O'Connell. Arendas has nailed down the centerfield position, and next to him in right is another freshman, Jim Curtis.

Todd Leavitt, another top prospect in O'Connell's eyes, had been the first-string shortstop until he sprained an ankle last Sunday. He is not expected to play again until the end of this month.

Aulisi Pitches Well. More good news came on Sunday in the first half of a doubleheader against two different teams. Princeton won its first game, 6-3, over St. Andrews, with junior pitcher Ed Aulisi going five strong innings. Aulisi scattered five hits, struck out three and gave up just one run.

Sophomore hurler Ken Petren worked the next two innings in the seven-inning contest, and gave up the final two runs, both of them earned.

The Tigers, who committed only one error themselves, were the beneficiaries of five unearned tallies from St. Andrews' fielders who managed five errors. Arendas again picked up two of Princeton's four hits, one of them a triple, and scored half of Princeton's runs. One came after a walk, when he stole second and collected two of Princeton's 11 hits, and scored twice. He is one of three freshmen to be made a starter by coach Tom O'Connell. Arendas has nailed down the centerfield position, and next to him in right is another freshman, Jim Curtis.

Todd Leavitt, another top prospect in O'Connell's eyes, had been the first-string shortstop until he sprained an ankle last Sunday. He is not expected to play again until the end of this month.

However, those hopes faded rapidly in the bottom of the seventh. Freshman Scott LaForest, who had gotten through the fifth and sixth frames without allowing a run, gave up a couple of hits, and hit a batter, but ultimately was the victim of some more shoddy fielding by the Tiger defense. Two errors allowed Pembroke to tie the score with four unearned runs. Another freshman hurler, Dan DeVinney, came in with one out and the winning run on base, and fanned one batter and got the next to hit into a force out. With darkness falling the game was called at this point.

Steinhauser and sophomore catcher Craig Peters had four of the Tigers' seven hits between them. Pembroke collected six safeties.

Monday night, Princeton lost to Georgia Southern, 8-2. No other details were available on Tuesday morning.

Another Year, Another Tiger Team Will Chase Cornell for Ivy League Lacrosse Championship

Coach Jerry Schmidt will be starting his second year at the helm of the Princeton University lacrosse team, but already he finds himself in a familiar position.

A year ago, Schmidt said his goal was to break the stranglehold Cornell has had on the Ivy title for more than a decade. This spring he'll be aiming to do the same thing.

TOP SCORER: Gerry Ronan, who led the Tiger Lacrosse team in scoring as a junior a year ago, will be back to lead the Princeton attack this spring.

A disappointing one-goal loss to Dartmouth a week later, left the Orange and Black in a tie for second with the Big Green and Harvard, and an overall record of 8-6. Considering the difficulty of the schedule, that's a decent achievement, and Schmidt would like to improve upon it this spring.

He'll have to do it with a rebuilt defensive unit, which lost three starting defensemen and the first and second string goalies. Honorable mention graduation, but the Tigers are still deep in this area. Bob Flippin, Mike Wiczorek and David Chang will form the first unit, and should continue their fine play together. Lacy Rice will center the second unit, with Joe Rigney, Bill Donohue and Andy Allard serving on the wings.

Spearheading Princeton's attack will be senior tri-captain Gerry Ronan, the leading scorer a year ago with 55 points (33 goals and 22 assists), almost double the next highest total of 29. He is regarded as one of the league's premier performers. Supporting Ronan on attack will be seniors Steve Faber, Paul Hollis, Chuck Kontulis, Bruce Gehrke and sophomore Charlie Stillwell.

Princeton will open this year's schedule with three road games, starting this Wednesday against the University of Maryland-Baltimore at Baltimore. Next Tuesday it will face off against Franklin & Marshall in Lancaster, and Saturday, March 26 it will return to Baltimore to meet perennial power Johns Hopkins.

The first home contest is set for Saturday, April 2 against Navy. Princeton will begin on April 25 and will meet twice a week for four weeks. Additional classes are scheduled throughout the day on Saturday.

LOCAL TEAM EXCELS

In Indoor Soccer League. The 1974 Princeton Lions indoor soccer team, competing for the first year, ended its season with a 3-1 victory over Willingboro last week to finish with a 9-7-2 record. Included in the nine wins were upset victories over Hamilton, West End and Bordentown.

All games were played at the Hamilton Indoor Sports Center on a hardwood floor half the size of a regulation field. The game is quick, fast-paced and helps the young players (8 years old) to develop their reflexes. Five indoor soccer team, com-players and a goalie comprise a team.

Coach Charlie Scozzaro, a traveling team coach for Princeton teams during the spring season, is so encouraged by the benefit in experience his players gained, that he hopes to form two teams from Princeton for next year's indoor season.

this week, as he begins his new role as coach of the Princeton High School baseball team. "It's 80 percent of the game."

Becham succeeds Jim O'Neill, who has left teaching and coaching to run a camp in Massachusetts which he has purchased. In his eight seasons, O'Neill turned the sport around at PHS and in two, back-to-back seasons won 14 games each year. Last year, the Little Tigers slumped to 7-13, hampered by a thin pitching staff and loose play in the field where it averaged more than three errors a game.

Only one pitcher, senior Terry Phox, returns from last year's mound staff. At that, Phox saw limited action, used mainly as a spot starter. Most of the time, Phox patrolled the outfield where he was more effective as a hitter, leading the team last year in runs batted in with 17. "Phox is big and strong and he is looking good," observed Becham. "He'll be my number one pitcher."

Those behind Phox trying to earn a berth in the pitching rotation include seniors Matt Tamasi and Drew Bienkowski. -- Bienkowski the only lefthander -- and juniors Dino D'Angelo, John Sherin, Joe O'Grady and Jason Petrone. As a member of the javyee team last year, the six-foot

Mike Riddick with 31 points and 16 rebounds dominated the inside play, as the rejuvenated Hoyas posted a 56-49 victory over the Panthers.

Riddick received support from Derek Cottrell and Steve Ughetta who combined for 22 points. The Panthers stayed in contention off the performance of Jim Jones who poured in 26 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. Bruce Goodman added 14 markers for the Panthers.

In Junior division, the 76ers rolled to a 66-43 victory over the Mini-Tigers as Bernard Simpson, Jim Scott, and John Thompson combined for 64 points. Also instrumental in the victory was the playmaking of Ken Okabayashi and Oscar Eybers and the rebounding of Ernie Soffronoff and Chester Bohach. The Mini-Tigers were led by Alex Salvi (11 points), Reuben Steiger (10 points), and Will Dickerson (10 rebounds).

In other Junior action the 86ers withstood a comeback attempt by the Popcorn Gang to win, 32-30. Darius Young, John Burnett, and Anthony White led the victors by scoring, while Steve Horowitz excelled on defense. Mark Payton (13 points) was high scorer for the Popcorn Gang.

Looking ahead, Becham commented, "Basically, I think the defense and hopefully the offense is pretty sound. The catching is good. We're a little weak in the outfield."

"I don't think we're in worse shape than any other team in the league, as far as kids coming back. It seems as if everyone has lost and while we've lost, too, we have four or five sound players coming back."

Eighth Year for Becham. For Becham, who started coaching at PHS the same year as O'Neill—he took one year off from coaching—this will mark the start of his eighth year—his first as head coach in baseball. He has also served as head coach of both boys and girls soccer, girls softball and has been an assistant coach in basketball.

He will be assisted this year by Les Tuberville, who coached javyee and freshman teams briefly at Hopewell Valley High School before coming to PHS where he is an English teacher.

Coaching the freshman team is newcomer Robert Stuart, a student at the Princeton Theological Seminary and an assistant last year to Princeton University coach Tom O'Connell. A graduate of William and Mary, Stuart, says Becham, is "really nice and low key -- just what the freshman need."

VICTORS WILL CLASH In Dillion League Title Games. The Downtowners (senior division) and the 76ers (junior division) have survived opening-round play-offs in the Dillion Basketball League to keep their undefeated records intact.

Also victorious in the senior circuit were the Hoyas, who will face the Downtowners for the championship. In the Junior title contest, the 86ers will oppose the 76ers.

Trailing by nine points in the fourth quarter, the Downtowners rallied to defeat the Demons, 51-49. Tim Rumer, Scott Yates, and Marvin Trotman combined for 45 points for the victors while Bill Byrne, Mike Kinsey, and David Gross grabbed 20 rebounds, and Doug Davis added 9 assists. Paul Anderson and Deran Elliott split 32 points for the Demons. In the other Senior game,

Condominiums

Mr. Bittinger created three condominiums at 45 Vandewater and two more at 36 Wiggins. All now are sold or under contract (the one-bedroom unit on the top floor of 45 Vandewater sold for $115,250) and Mr. Bittinger is looking at other properties that might be developed in a similar fashion.

An Urban Revival. No one should plunge head first into the condo field, warns Mr. Bittinger. "People will not trade down in terms of their lifestyle," he says. "The Princeton market is different from New York — there are too many alternatives. You have to offer attractive floor plans plus outdoor space where you can read a paper and have some sense of privacy. But you can be too lavish and all of a sudden a project becomes unprofitable."

Together Mr. Silvester and Mr. Bittinger have sparked a renaissance on Wiggins Street. Several other owners have made substantial improvements in their rental properties. A few houses seem ripe for further development.

One of them is at 34 Wiggins, next door to Mr. Bittinger's two-unit condominium. Audrey Short has the property listed for $176,000. If you want to create your own condominium, here is your chance. But remember, Mr. Silvester and Mr. Bittinger, who have been in the business, both have passed by that property on an almost daily basis. And neither of them has bought it yet.

WITHERSPOON IS TOPIC Of Historical Society Talk. "John Witherspoon and the Intellectual and Moral Climate of 1783" will be the subject of the second Bicentennial Lecture sponsored by the Historical Society and the New Jersey Committee for the Humanities.

The featured speaker will be Gordon Tait, professor of religion at the College of Wooster (Ohio). The lecture will be held on Thursday, March 24, at 8 at the Princeton Public Library.

John Witherspoon, long a figure of interest for Princetonians, has been the subject of an extensive study by Prof. Tait. His research into the intellectual and moral climate of 1783 will help to give appropriate historical context to the debates and decisions which Congress faced when it met in Princeton 200 years ago.

Charles Cullen, editor of the Jefferson Papers at Princeton University, will introduce the speaker and will lead the discussion period following the lecture. The public is invited to attend.

PRIZES ARE OFFERED At Desert Card Party. For the first time the 16th annual scholarship benefit desert card party of the Women's College Club will feature door prizes, in addition to a Raffle and a Plain and Fancy Silent Auction. Winners will have an opportunity to choose from a greater selection of prizes than ever before, due to the generous cooperation of area merchants.

The party will be held on Monday, March 21, at the Stuart Country Day School. Doors will open at 11:30 and dessert will be served at noon. Proceeds from the party provide scholarship aid to qualified girls from four secondary schools in Princeton.

Featured in the Silent Auction will be a number of unusual items including a needlepoint rug, oil paintings, a set of bone china demi-tasse cups, a Chinese mandarin

Collins to Present Plans To Environmental Board

Changes on East and West sides of Palmer Square, including a five-story addition to the Nassau Inn on the east, and a two-story wing on the west, will be described this Thursday by Collins Development to the Environmental Design Review Committee.

The EDRC meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Valley Road Building. Collins is booked for April 21 with the Planning Board to go over results of this week's EDRC meeting, but it is expected that more than one evening will be required for the EDRC presentation.

Meanwhile, Collins announced formally this week that a Laura Ashley shop will open in May on Nassau Street, where Clayton's formerly had a branch.

Laura Ashley sells a range of products, from wallpaper to fabric to bridal gowns, all in what has been described as "a soft, neo-Victorian look."

Rain Gauge Overflowing? We've Had 6.78" So Far

"So far in March," said weatherman Dan Mazzarella, skillfully maneuvering his rowboat into a Nassau Street parking slot, "we've had 6.78 inches of rain."

Usually, Mr. Mazzarella — a true pro — talks about "liquid precip," but this time he said "RAIN."

Those 6.78 inches were measured over a scant three-week period, between March 2 and 8 a.m. this Tuesday, March 22. In case you were puddle-jumping Monday and not pausing to count the drops, we had 1.68 inches. That's the heaviest so far this month, followed closely by the 1.53 inches for the period between Saturday morning and Sunday morning.

From March 7, when the Mazzarella rain gauge measured .25 inches, Princeton had rain every single day through March 12.

Mysterious Phone Call Jeopardizes Return of $525,000 in School Funds

A telephone call last week by an unknown Princeton resident to a state education official has jeopardized the promised return to Princeton of the $525,000 in state aid taken from the district last year.

The state has refused to say who placed the call to Vincent Calabrese, an assistant commissioner of education; however, Princeton Superintendent Paul Houston remarked this week that it was someone knowledgeable enough to know Mr. Calabrese's name and sophisticated enough about budgetary matters to make the point.

At a special board meeting called for this Tuesday, the school board is expected to take action that will resolve the matter.

According to school board president Ann McGoldrick, the caller apparently complained that the returned state money should be used for tax relief, and not for expenditures. Mr. Calabrese then apparently informed the Mercer County Superintendent of Schools that only $150,000 of the money could be used in the budget. The remaining $375,000 had to be used for tax relief.

The County Superintendent, Robert Boose, had already approved Princeton's budget. Dr. Houston said that Mr. Calabrese never called Princeton.

Under the plan scheduled for discussion Tuesday, the board would put $200,000 in reserve, thereby lowering the tax rate. It would then raise the capital budget by $200,000.

For taxpayers, Dr. Houston explained, "it would be a wash — the tax rate would stay the same." However, the expenditure of $200,000 for capital improvements would lower the dollar amount of the bond referendum planned for late this year.

Voters will pass on the budget at the annual school election, to be held this year on Tuesday, April 12. The budget consists of $11,969,033 for current expenses and $585,400 for capital outlay. If the board agrees to adopt Tuesday night's proposal, the capital outlay would become $785,400.

The budget will mean a 5.4 percent increase in taxes, "the smallest increase in six years," Dr. Houston says.

HOW SWEET IT WAS: Made to play a preliminary round, because the NCAA thought it one of the weaker teams in its tournament, Princeton demonstrated it could play with the big boys, by upsetting Big Eight Champion Oklahoma State, 56-53, last Friday night in Corvallis, Ore. Here, the clock has run out and Billy Ryan (22) and other unidentified Tiger players celebrate the happy moment. Pete Carril is at far left. Princeton finished with a 20-8 record.
